Frentzen has over 18 years experience in development and implementation of software solutions. He started his software career with Foundation Health Plan as a Pascal programmer. He then joined Unify Corporation where – as a senior staff software engineer – he designed and implemented the company's database and next generation software products. In 1998, Frentzen started his partnership at CAL Internet Services. He is the company's chief technology officer, driving the technical direction of the company.

Frentzen earned his Bachelors degree in computer science and a minor in business administration with honors in 1987 from California State University, Sacramento.
